The Publisher's Claims Sustaine

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIM The Publishers of Webster's Internation Dictionary allege that it "is, in fact, the parallel of the County allege that it "is, in fact, the parallel of the County and the purpose of adapting it to meet the large and severer requirements of another generation."

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionarias it now stands, has been throughly recidied in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to accet the larger and severer requirements of a generation which demands more of popular philological knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the dictionary in our judicial work as a the highest authority in accuracy of definition; and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.
